Types of Free Response Questions

The 2023 AP US History free response section included three main types of questions, each with unique characteristics and objectives. These question types are crafted to assess students' analytical, interpretive, and writing skills across different historical contexts.

Document-Based Question (DBQ)

The DBQ requires students to analyze and synthesize information from a set of historical documents to construct a coherent argument. In 2023, the DBQ focused on a specific historical issue or development and provided seven documents ranging from primary sources to visual or quantitative data. Students were tasked with developing a thesis and supporting it with evidence from both the documents and their own knowledge.

Long Essay Question (LEQ)

The LEQ asks students to write an extended essay in response to a broad prompt, often requiring analysis of cause and effect, comparison, or continuity and change over time. The 2023 LEQs allowed students to choose from several prompts covering different historical periods, emphasizing depth of knowledge and argumentation skills.

Short Answer Questions (SAQs)

The SAQs typically consist of three prompts that require concise, focused responses. Each question tests students' ability to recall factual information, interpret historical evidence, and connect concepts within a limited word count.
