In "Christ the Healer," Bosworth laid out his theological framework for understanding divine healing. The book is a systematic approach to the subject, combining scriptural references, personal testimonies, and practical insights.

Healing as a Part of Atonement

One of the central tenets of Bosworth's teaching is the belief that healing is included in the atonement of Christ.

- Faith and Healing: He emphasized that faith plays a crucial role in receiving healing. Believers must not only believe in God's ability to heal but also in His willingness to do so.

The Role of Faith in Healing

F.F. Bosworth highlighted the importance of faith in the process of healing. He believed that faith is a tangible force that can bring about miraculous changes in a person's life.

- Types of Faith:
 1. Saving Faith: The belief that Jesus is Lord and Savior.
 2. Healing Faith: The specific trust in God's power to heal.
- Faith Activation: Bosworth taught that healing can be activated through:
 - Prayer: Engaging in earnest prayer for healing.
