The Bible is divided into two main sections:

1. Old Testament:

- Historical Books: These narrate the history of the Israelites, including Joshua, Judges, Ruth, Samuel, Kings, and Chronicles.

- Prophetic Books: Major and minor prophets, such as Isaiah, Jeremiah, and Hosea, convey messages from God.

- Revelation: A prophetic and apocalyptic book attributed to John, depicting the end times.

Historical Context

The Bible was written over a span of about 1,500 years, with contributions from various authors in different historical contexts. Understanding this context is vital for interpretation. Key historical periods include:

- Ancient Israel (c. 1200-586 BCE): During this time, the Israelites settled in Canaan, established a monarchy, and faced conquest and exile.
- Second Temple Period (516 BCE-70 CE): Following the Babylonian Exile, Jewish culture and beliefs evolved significantly. This period saw the compilation of many biblical texts.
- Early Christianity (1st century CE): The formation of the New Testament and the spread of Christianity throughout the Roman Empire.

Key Themes in the Bible

The Bible encompasses a variety of themes that resonate throughout its pages. Some of the most significant include:

The Nature of God

The Bible presents a complex view of God, described with attributes such as love, justice, mercy, and sovereignty. The Old Testament emphasizes God's covenant with His people, while the New Testament showcases God's grace through Jesus Christ.

Human Nature and Sin
